Storm Rips Porch Off Restaurant, Sets Barge Free, Knocks Down Live Wires, Cuts Off Electricity

Freakish weather, more like the hurricane season than mid-winter, bore down on the Bay area on Tuesday of this week, causing considerable damage and widespread wire trouble. The storm, which came as a sudden climax to a rainy, windy day, ripped the rear porch off Manier's Restaurant on the beach, and threw parts of it across the street. Electric wires were downed on the beach and traffic had to be re-routed. At the restaurant, the Macneris stated that estimates have not yet been made as to the damage caused by the storm. Their kitchen was flooded for a while, but the front of the restaurant was comparatively unhurt.

Off Waveland beach, a barge, belonging to a lumber company, broke loose and narrowly missed damaging several piers before it was towed out again. Roads on the South part of the beach were flooded for a part of the day and passage was doubly hampered on most roads due to wires being down. The Mississippi Power Co., called in extra crews from Gulfport to help handle the work of repairing lines. This went on far into the night. Falling limbs and trees broke most of the lines, a spokesman for the company said.

There was power failure at Bay High and on part of North Beach early in the evening. The telephone company also had to bring in an extra crew to repair a cable near the K. C. Hall and linesmen were beset most of the day with calls to right crossed wires as far out as Kiln and Lakeshore. There were no injuries reported to persons caught out in the sudden blast of winds.

Dedeaux-Bay High Win Tournament

Contradictory to the basketball styles of the day, Dedeaux High School played a slow moving, slow passing game making every shot count, to win the boys' division of the Pass Christian Invitational Tournament. It defeated a rather weak Long Beach team, who had fought hard and played above their heads to reach the finals, 45-27 to take home the championship trophy.

In the girls' bracket, Bay Hi, behind the accurate shooting, the highly capable floor maneuvers and the ever present desire to win of Rosemary Millinery, snagged Pass High at the half-way mark and pulled ahead to win the final game, 55-48.

In the last game Rosemary hit for her lowest score of the tourney, 33 points. W. J. Cameron and Smoky Ladner led Dedeaux in the scoring department in its final game with 16 and 15 points respectively.

The Wayside Shrine of the Sacred Heart was dedicated in elaborate ceremonies at St. Augustine's Seminary Sunday, after a visit to the shrine by His Eminence Cardinal Tien, archbishop of Peking, China, officiating.

Warner Builds Circus In Bay St. Louis

SITUATION—Little Jay Warner, Jr., has a great life. He builds merry-go-rounds in Bay St. Louis, so he gets seen all out.

Warner, owner of the Day Grocery and Market and foremost a circus man.

He has been connected with the business for the past 15 years.

He worked in all phases of amusement parks. From the shows to the building of the merry-go-rounds.

He registered a large number of "tricks" during his career.

Among these are the baking of the largest apple pie ever made in the United States, the building of the first park in Washington, D. C., the original maker of the aluminum horses for the traditional merry-go-round, the owner of the largest wild animal show ever held in the South, and many achievements that have given Warner a full and interesting life.

According to his own testimony, he has made and lost several fortunes in show business.

But he passes this off with a shrug of his shoulders and says, "So what? I don't pay any attention to that. You make a fortune today, lose it tomorrow and make another one the next day."

Yes, this has been Jay Warner's philosophy in life during his 68 years.

In 1913 he started traveling with all of the big circuses and from there branched out into his own enterprises.

In the 1920's Warner constructed and operated an amusement park in Washington, as the Rotomar. It was the first in the capital city.

While there he built a race track, which was the afternoon resting spot for President Woodrow Wilson after he became ill. The track was the home of such outstanding and famous horses as Man O' War and Zeb.

But not being a man to settle down in any one location or to any one type of organization, Warner moved on.

Selling his interests in Washington he journeyed around the United States and Canada.

It was while his shows were playing Troy, Kansas, that he added the apple pie incident to his history.

An apple sauce company gave him 30 bushels of the fruit for the ingredients of the monster pie.

So Warner set out and began baking the pie in sheets. After this step was finished he placed all of the pieces together and ended up with a pie 30 feet in diameter.

Being the showman that he was, he placed his creation on exhibition under a huge tent, and seeing a chance to make some money he sliced it and sold triangular pieces. The very first day he collected $1500.

Then Warner decided that building the carnival rides would increase his finances. And again he was right.

Especially when he designed and built the first aluminum horse for the merry-go-rounds. Orders from all over the world poured into his office from Hong Kong, Canada, Europe, Cuba and many other foreign countries.

The name of his company at that time, is now a famous name in show business. Working with his brother, Harry, he selected Warner Brothers, as the name which would identify his business to customers the world over.

Today that name, with another set of Warners, has become distinguished in the motion picture industry.

The local impresario knew the Hollywood Warners before they gained fame. He used to work with them in a carnival in Youngstown, Ohio.

Even though he was born in Ohio, his parents were originally from Crowley, La., and Warner gained a love of the South from them.

So in 1948, hunting for a place to set up his operations, he chose Hancock County.

He has been here ever since.

During the past seven years he has sold over 200 rides, building over a hundred in his workshop on Highway 90.

These rides vary in price from $2800 to $9500.

So you can readily see, that when he speaks of fortunes, he knows what he is talking about. Has he regretted anything he has ever done? "No," he answered.

What if he had his life to live over again. Would he enter the same business?

Very emphatically he said, "Yes, No matter what you do you have to make a living. And it is all what you like to do. I like the show business and I would do it all over again."

He continued, "But I will tell you one thing. I have traveled all over the world during my life, but I can think of no better county where I would want to live than Hancock County. I certainly have enjoyed it here."

Where does it take the most to provide telephone service?

...where there are 6.7 telephones to the square mile?

...or where there are 20 telephones to the square mile?

When you stop to think of it, you realize that it takes more cable, poles, wire and other materials to add to a telephone in a sparsely settled area than it does in a thickly settled one. And it takes more employees to maintain and operate a telephone system where customers are widely scattered.

So you see that providing telephone service in Mississippi where we have only 6.7 telephones to the square mile is an expensive job. This has always been the case, but today's inflated prices on everything needed to build, operate and maintain our system makes it even more expensive than ever.

On the credit side, however, Mississippi offers room for growth. Industrialists realize it—so they're moving in. Southern Bell folks know it, too. We like to think of ourselves as partners in progress with all Mississippians, old and new. But, telephone expansion in the sparsely settled areas of Mississippi is mighty expensive.

Better Roads Are Safer

Tragedy struck the highways as an aftermath to the St. Augustine's picturesque dedication Sunday, and it was especially ironical that Archbishop Rummel had just spoken on highway safety.

Too often we in America are the self-made victims of false economy when it comes to highways. Too often we save a few hundred dollars in highway costs to the tune of millions of dollars in damaged automobiles and bodies.

This Gulf Coast-Sidell-Covington circle in which we live is heavily traveled most of the year. There should be no two-lane U. S. Highway in the area.

Yet we have many.

Mississippi is doing a marvelous job in four-laning the stretch between Mobile and Bay St. Louis. But from Bay St. Louis to New Orleans, what?

From Bay St. Louis to New Orleans we have the most heavily traveled part of U. S. 90. Yet to take this traffic of tourists and commuters there are two slim lanes flanked by soft and often watery shoulders.

During certain portions of the year this road is shrouded by fog.

When the Sea Coast Echo questioned the state highway department last year about four-lanes to the Louisiana line, it got no encouragement whatsoever.

Yet this is a pressing need. Highway 90 should be four lanes from Mobile to New Orleans, and the work should be under way now.

There are many fancy ideas about roads from Memphis to New Orleans the length of Mississippi. These should be put aside for now.

They are luxuries. A four-lane highway to New Orleans comes under the heading of necessity.

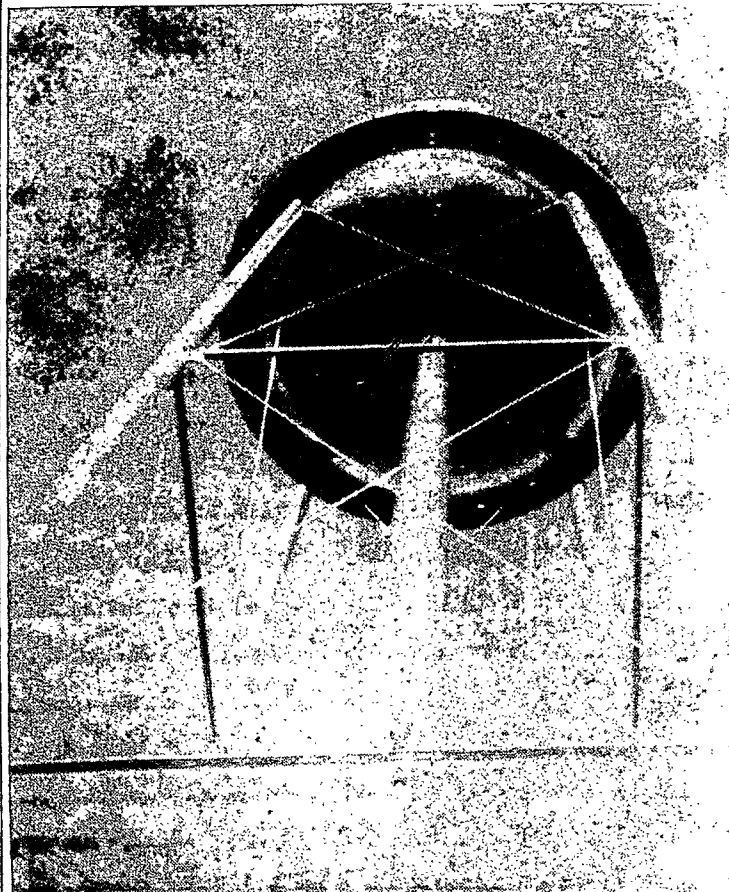

They Need Help

One of Bay St. Louis' finest projects is the annual Mardi Gras parade. This is an event for the youngest children—even those too young to know about Santa Claus—and they delight in it each year.

The unselfish citizens who put on the parade need help, however. Particularly they need trucks on which floats can be mounted.

If you can help them, please do. Many a child will be delighted.

WAVELAND WATER AND GAS NOW BEING REORGANIZED

WAVELAND WATER AND GAS SYSTEM—General Manager of the new Waveland Water and Gas System is Ed Gipson, top left. Mrs. Robert Henley, secretary is pictured in the photograph on the top right. In the bottom picture the new water tank is displayed. The tank will maintain a 50 pound pressure throughout the city distribution line.

Waveland's new half-million dollar water and gas works is now under construction under the direction of Ed Gipson.

One of the fastest growing communities in Mississippi, Waveland approved a $470,000 bond issue to overhaul the water department. It was bought from a private company for $27,000 and the city took over.

Gipson was appointed general manager by Mayor Garfield Ladner.

"I took the job with the understanding that everything would be businesslike," said Gipson.

"As a matter of fact, the first thing I did was take a $5 deposit from the mayor."

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I want to express my gratitude and appreciation for the way you have covered and printed without fear or bias the actions of the board of supervisors and other county officials.

From then on Gipson, a retired New Orleans policeman who founded the city's bicycle division, took over. The water works now had no paying customers.

At this time, however, if the pipe had been placed in the ground and connected to the distribution line from the home.

A new and larger well was built and all but three of the existing wells were closed down.

The well that supplies the town now maintains 50 pounds of pressure throughout the distribution line.

The well will supply enough water in five hours to supply the town for a period of 21 hours.

It will pump 1,000,000 gallons in five hours to more than adequately cover the average daily need of 100,000 gallons.

The citizens are assured of a constant pressure range in the water line.

This was accomplished by placing the three existing wells on a standby basis. They are each in strategic locations in the town.

If the pressure drops below 30 pounds, because of some trouble with the large well, these wells go on automatically and build the pressure back to 50 pounds.

In their survey the engineers estimated that the town has 520 potential gas customers.

Gipson agrees with this figure, but says, "It will take a long time to accumulate this many customers. The people have to be educated to natural gas. Without a doubt the conversion problem will show us down in the change over."

Gipson also explains that another problem in the gas system is that "the home owner will have to meet us at the property line with pipe. We will place a meter at the property line. The reason for this is that the city line will have 15 pounds of pressure, but when it crosses the meter the pressure is reduced to four ounces."

"It would cost a large amount of money if we piped directly to every house and placed the meter on the house."

He continued, "The town is growing so fast that with the system we are putting in now we cannot reach everybody. But as soon as we get some extra funds this will be handled. And within a reasonable length of time every home owner will have the advantage of the new system."

"Everyday," Gipson said, people come in the office and ask when they will be able to get water and gas. They say they want it regardless of the cost involved. This is the attitude of the people."

"They want the new system."

in the matter of the redistricting of Hancock County.

A few people have stated to me recently that it is a shame that the board of Supervisors have denied the people of Hancock County the right to a free election. Let me take this means to assure all the citizens of Hancock County, that this is a part of the United States of America and even though a small group of individuals would like us to believe they can deny freedom and justice for all citizens of Hancock, we shall prove beyond a shadow of a doubt that we shall have an election and let the people of Hancock County decide this issue.

There seems to be considerable fear in Hancock County of some state fear of increase of taxes, some state fear of loss of livelihood and some even state fear of personal safety. Others state they like it as it is because they get "theirs."

But "Thank God" the latter are really a very small minority. As for fear of increased taxes, I personally find the taxes in Hancock County to be so excessive that I have no fear of increase, as I am certain by petitioning the state I could show unfair taxation. A lot of people do not realize that the state has the last say on what their personal taxes shall be. As far as the loss of livelihood, if you must place your life and all your actions in bondage even to your thoughts and desires, you should take stock of that position and decide whether it is worth it. Of course, if it is a role which you are not earning, you have sold your soul and it matters not.

As far as redistricting of the county, I personally have no axes to grind. In fact, when I started working on redistricting Hancock County, I knew that a considerable amount of my customers were from the rural areas of Hancock County and I knew that a lot of them were controlled by the politicians and political bosses of Hancock County and expected them to be told all forms of misleading and untrue statements. So I expected to lose some business, but I know that when Hancock County is redistricted, within a short time after the graft and corruption has ceased and the taxes channelled into proper and economical expenditures, everyone in Hancock County will be able to see the difference.

The funniest part of it all, I guess you might even call it pathetic, is the way the citizens sit at home afraid of politicians and at the same time the politicians and political bosses are afraid of just a few people standing up and speaking the truth. A member of the board of supervisors has stooped so low in an effort to have some names removed from a petition calling only for an election, that he has tried to stir up religious prejudice and has accused the people of his own denomination of trying to take over control of the government.

Here's an example to show the fear the politicians hold for anyone to speak the truth. For the first time in the recollection of anyone I have spoken to, on the first Monday in December, the board of supervisors met, and adjourned after one meeting. In January the board of supervisors did the same thing, without even approving any bids for annual purchases, consequently they are being illegally bought. The only reason for this unprecedented action is their fear of truth and honesty.

I have been told by quite a few people that if the county was redistricted, they would have to pay seawall taxes, city taxes or the school taxes, etc. I know that most people know this to be untrue and can tell the difference between fact and fiction. The seawall taxes all come from the gasoline tax which is collected from anyone buying gas in Hancock County. City taxes are only collected from people residing within the corporation limits of any city or town. Those not paying city taxes now would not pay city taxes after redistricting. As far as the school taxes, each school district is a separate district and redistricting would again not affect any school district whatsoever.

The foundation of the United States of America is the guarantee that government express the will of the people. The American Revolution was fought to win this guarantee: the United States Constitution was written to protect it. In order to assure that citizens are represented on an equal basis in our national government, congressional district boundaries are revised every 10 years to provide that each congressman represent an equal number of people.

Mississippi law states that each county shall be divided into 5 districts with due regard to equality of population. Further, it provides that when necessary, a county may be redistricted by the unanimous decision of the board of supervisors, or by the County district court. In county districts, the redistricting of the County.

I would like to meet with any one who swears any question the redistricting of Hancock County.

A stitch in time SAVES NINE

Only one well out of every nine drilled in exploratory areas in search of oil or gas proves successful. This one good well must produce enough gas or oil to justify the drilling of all nine, and, in many cases, each well costs a million dollars or more.

It's a long and costly process to locate adequate supplies of oil and gas for the future. The producers' only incentive for continuing the search is a profit in keeping with the risks they take. They should have the support and encouragement of everyone, for...

IMPORTANT IN MISSISSIPPI!

What is it?

there's no doubt about the importance of the beer industry in Mississippi. Wholesale retailers have a $29 million investment here... employing 16,295 Mississippians... and the beer industry is the largest tax payer in the State, paying over $4 million a year. It's largely through public acceptance of legally regulated beer as a beverage of moderation that beer has grown in importance to Mississippi.

COASTING

By ANNE ORLEANS
The Big Brains of Bay St. Louis met last Saturday evening at the home of Caroline and Bill Argus. The subject for discussion and enjoyment was opera. The Gilbert and Sullivan brand. The hit of the evening was Paul White's performance of "A Policeman's Lot is Not a Happy One." It was a delightful session. Besides the regular members, several guests were present. Edward Aubert, a Gilbert and Sullivan fan, came over from New Orleans specially for this performance.

On Sunday afternoon, the whole Argus family, about twenty persons, nearly all from New Orleans, gathered to celebrate the birthday of Mrs. Argus, Sr., Bill's mother. There was a big birthday cake and many lovely gifts for Mrs. Argus. Bill left last Monday for a business trip to Chicago.

Mrs. James Bell, of Birmingham, Ala., who was Margaret Chenoweth, visited Dr. and Mrs. John F. Dicks last week. They drove over to Slidell on Friday to the week end home of Gladys and James Reilly. Returning to Pine Shadows with the Dicks were Corinne and Carroll Bobb who went back to New Orleans Monday morning. Eleanor Pratt of New Orleans spent a few days with the Dicks and then went to Pass Christian to visit with the Stephen Munsons of Albania Plantation, near Jeanerette, La. They have a summer home at the Pass.

After a very pleasant week with Evelyn and Lloyd Griffith and Charlotte Burns at their North Beach home, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thomas have returned to their Plantation in the Delta Country. Speaking of the Delta country, that is the scene of Tennessee.

Wagon Full of Cotton" which is being performed at Dixon Hall on Newcomb Campus in New Orleans on the same bill as the Opera, "Lord Byron's Love Letters." Lots of folks from this section going in to see the double performance.

How would you like to pick forty-five dozen narcissus stems all filled with fragrant blossoms? That is what Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Linnfield did last week. The back field was full of the lovely flowers. Now, they are waiting for the daffodils to bloom. Last year the Linnfields had a smart idea. Their peonies produced a big crop and at the end of the season they peeled a big quantity of the peonies, put them in plastic bags and stored them in the deep freeze. As you know, due to the very dry summer, the peonies were very poor this year but the Linnfields just opened up the deep freeze for this year's supply. News from Marjorie Linnfield back at Vanderbilt University in Nashville after the holidays says that she is hard at work and getting good grades, as usual.

Visiting Mr. Harry Hardin last weekend were Sue and Clifford Woodward and the two little boys, Cliff, Jr., and Harry. Their mother, Weisse, did not come over this time as she was a guest of the Deynoudts at their Covington home.

Miss Violet Gleber and Miss

With Springtime approaching lots of housewives are planning not only Spring cleaning but Spring painting. Now, husbands, don't look so worried. Just talk to Eddie Heath; he is an expert. Just recently he did over two rooms in their house and with the paint roller and that wonderful rubber base paint, he actually did one room in about one hour.

Merrill and Martha Utley away for about a month. They spent Christmas with Merrill's family in Philadelphia, Miss., and since then Martha and Holly, their pretty little daughter, have been with Martha's family in Louisville, Ky., while Merrill is away on a business trip.

Dorothy and Kenneth Thompson went to New Orleans for the day Friday.

Last Saturday night, Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Alba were hosts to their friends Dr. and Mrs. Walter Hava and Mr. and Mrs. Helmut Hornuff at a specially good dinner. They entertained at one of the nicest places in Pass Christian and everyone enjoyed the Specialties de la Maison, particularly the Crabs Imperial and the delicious cherry cream tarts.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Mestayer, Sr., visiting home folks and friends in New Orleans and New Iberia.

Mr. and Mrs. James Rees have not been over for several weekends, so after putting the big boss of their company on the plane after a business session in New Orleans, they drove over to their Waveland home for a Sunday visit.

When you pass the Dan Russell home this Spring it should be a pretty garden that you will see. They moved in last June and have been busy planting. There are azaleas, Bridal wreath and camellias. On both sides of the front walk they have filled the beds with pink petunias and borders of white sweet alyssum.

Visiting at their home on the Beach last week end were Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Stahl. Their friends call their place Stahl's place. With the big oak trees and the beautifully kept grass lawn it is at its loveliest when the rays of the setting sun throw the shadows of the trees across the big yard.

Jack and Bessie Deblanc quite busy with house improvements. They are converting the present garage into a big fourteen by twenty play room for the children and building a new garage. They sincerely hope that the electric trains, dolls, etc., will stay out of the living

Q. Would it be proper to insert an announcement in a local newspaper of a broken engagement?
A. Yes, if an announcement of the engagement was made in that paper. A proper announcement would read something like this: "Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Jones, announce that by mutual consent the engagement between their daughter, Mary Ellen, and Mr. Thomas J. Fox is at an end."

Q. What is the correct manner of eating an orange at the table?
A. Peel the orange, and then pull it apart. At breakfast, the orange is often cut into halves and eaten with an orange spoon.

Q. How should a divorcee sign her name if she retains her ex-husband's surname?
A. She should use the surname of her former husband, prefixing her maiden name; as, "Mrs. Shirley Carter Johnson."

Q. Is it necessary for a person to apologize for the crunching noise that results from eating hard toast, celery, or something of that nature?
A. Not when it is unavoidable. A little practice, however, will enable one to avoid much of this noise.

GARDEN SEED

1955 seed catalogs list large numbers of specialties and varieties of special merit. Some of these may be new. Others may be improved selections of old and standard varieties, or they may be resistant strains of old or standard varieties.

Read all illustrated material carefully to make sure that the seeds fit your local growing conditions and that the strain or variety is recommended by your State College.

Before making a large main planting of the newer strains or varieties, make a trial planting of see how they do in your area.

VINEYARD PRUNING

Muscadine grapes yield better if they are pruned every year.

Grapes are born on new canes which develop from one-year old wood. Pruning stimulates the growth of new wood. Old vines that have not been pruned regularly should have all dead wood removed and about a third of the old, unproductive cane cut out. Last year's growth should be cut back to three or four buds which will produce new canes for next's summer's harvest.

New varieties of muscadines are available from nurseries. These include self-fertile and self-pollinating varieties. Muscadines are adapted to growth throughout the state.

FAT CONTENT CHANGES

Worried because your milk has had a lower than usual fat test lately. There are a number of reasons why fat content changes. Some of the major Stage of Lactation — Tests usually run higher in the beginning and toward the end of lactation.

Milking Practice—If a cow holds up her milk so that some of it is left in the udder, the test will be down as the last milk drawn out is the richest.

Flesh condition at freshening. Cows freshening in good flesh will usually give higher testing milk until the excess fat is milked off.

Weather Conditions—A sudden change in temperature or humidity has been known to cause a variation in the test.

A GOOD SIGN FOR MISSISSIPPI

NEW $10 MILLION OIL REFINERY

A substantial new industry for Mississippi has resulted from a team effort in which Governor Hugh White, members of the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board and officials of the Gulf Refining Company participated.

Construction of an oil refinery to be operated by Pontiac Eastern Corporation will begin during 1955 in south-central Mississippi. The processing plant will cost more than $10,000,000... will be capable of processing 12,000 barrels of crude oil per day... will employ 150 people... will bring into the state new payrolls and purchases amounting to more than $1,000,000 annually.

The key factor in locating this new industry in Mississippi was Gulf's ability to supply crude oil in quantities sufficient to assure the economically-sound operation of a refinery, and its willingness to purchase the greater part of the plant's refined products.

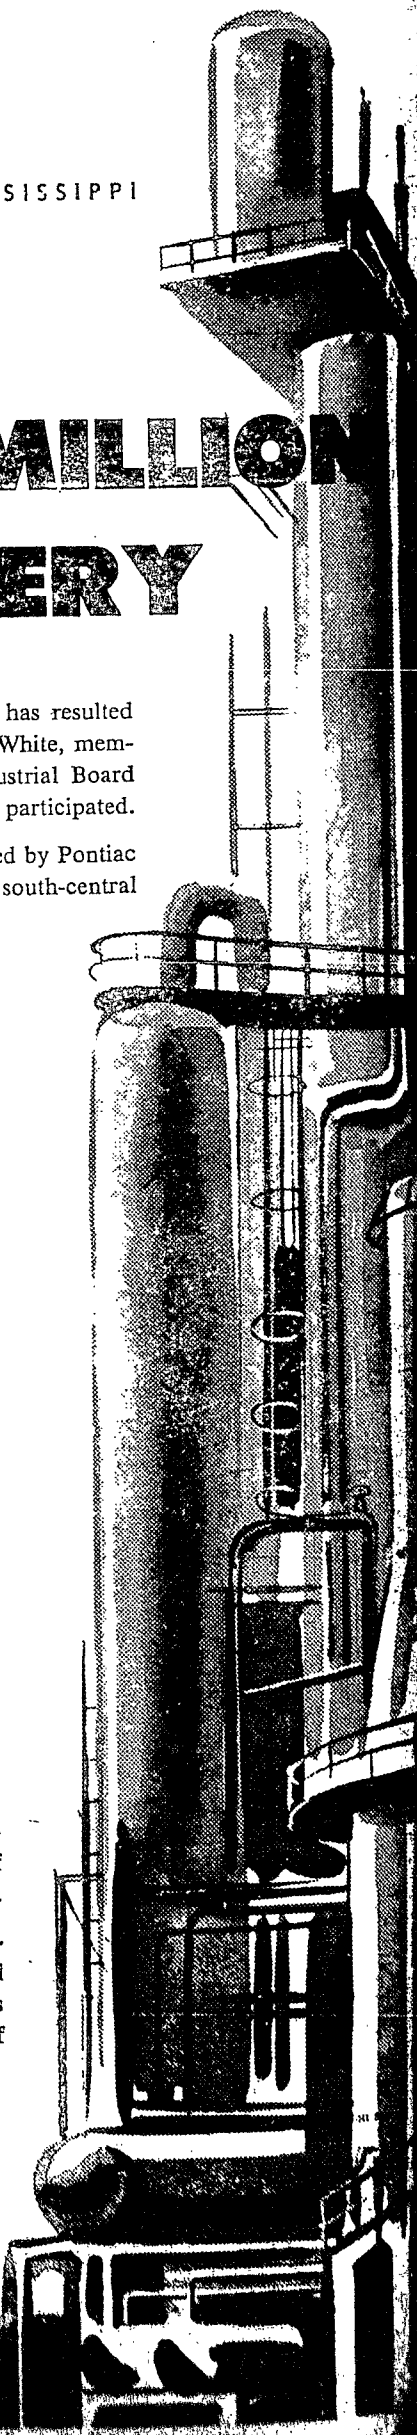

Before refineries are feasible, large reserves of crude oil must be found, high-volume production established and markets for the refined products made available.

Gulf has spent more than $120,000,000 in 37 years of pioneering the search for such reserves in Mississippi. Gulf's success in establishing Mississippi oil production... and its building of extensive marketing facilities in this and adjoining states over many years... made possible the location of the $10,000,000 refinery in Mississippi.

Gulf is glad it could help bring about this significant industrial development... glad that the company's payrolls, royalties, lease rentals, purchases, taxes and other expenditures have played a part in the expansion of Mississippi's general economy over the years.

Gulf's activities and expenditures will continue to be important factors in Mississippi progress as the company diligently pursues the developing, producing and marketing of Mississippi's natural resources.

Designed for soft crabbing and floundering the Coleman gasoline lantern or one with a pan as a reflector is an ideal light.
They will burn about 10 hours on a quart of gas. The old time kerosene torch is still a wonderful light, but oh so dirty!

Rain, rain, go away, come again some other week day!
Seems to be the song of the local fishermen. The past few weekends has been taboo for most all sports. Bad water for fishing, hunting seasons over and too wet for golfing. A sportsman's life is hard.
